Garton buys wheel goods division of New Monarch

The sale of the entire wheel goods division of New Monarch Machine and Stamping Co., Des Moines, Iowa, to Garton Toy Co., Sheboygan, Wis., has been announced by officials of the two companies.

Important items involved in this sale were the Monco Power Tractor and the Monco Speedster (Irish Mail), heretofore manufactured by New Monarch, large and well equipped stamping plant. These items now will be manufactured by Garton, under Garton brand names. Both of these items are reported to be well accepted by the trade. Their recognized qualities of engineering and styling will be maintained by the new manufacturer, it is stated.

Although details of the sale and reasons were not made public, management of the New Monarch Machine and Stamping Co. stated that the company has, as its current objectives, the streamlining of activities in the manufacture of the company's quality line of metal window sashes, silo equipment, etc.

Garton, 77-year-old manufacturer of wheel goods, has established sales representatives from coast to coast, as well as in Canada and overseas countries. Such representation is in line with the company policy of offering the trade a complete and modern line of wheel goods.

The transfer of the tools and dies has been effected to avoid interruption of service to customers. Replacement parts, whenever required, are available from Garton.

DREMEL SANDER

A rotary motor driven sander with "straight-line reciprocating action" and the power to do a professional finishing job has been placed into production by the Dremel Mfg. Co., Racine, Wisconsin. The makers say it will not gouge, leave lap marks, cut orbital swirls, or other hard-to-cover abrasive patterns.

The sander features a unique paper holder assembly that detaches from the machine at the flick of a finger. An extra paper holder unit is furnished so that grits can be switched quickly without bothersome paper change. It is designed for rugged duty, in industry, on construction work, and all-around home and shop use.

Because it sands "with the wood grain" the Dremel "53" sander produces smooth, scratch-free finishes. It has a polished aluminum housing, lifetime sealed ball bearings, and is driven by a 110-120 volt, 60 cycle A.C. rotary motor

GLASS PLASTIC SUPPLY

A complete Marine Handyman Kit containing an epoxy-based resin, a strong plastic adhesive, is a featured new product of the Glass Plastic Supply Company of Linden, N. J., producers of Boat Armor kits for covering boat hulls with fiberglass reinforced plastic. The new kit also introduces a second Boat Armor product for 1956, a Glass Plastic Seam Filler, which combines with the Titan-Tite plastic resin to extend the range of repairs.

Titan-Tite joins wood, metal and other materials in a bond that is weatherproof, corrosion-resistant and waterproof. It bonds wooden elements together—including white oak and teak—with an adhesion that is actually stronger than the wood itself.

The Marine Handyman Kit is sold by marine dealers in a convenient package that includes Titan-Tite plastic, seam filler, measuring cups, mixing sticks, complete illustrated instructions and a special promoter that suplies the hardening action.

Both the Titan-Tite plastic and the Boat Armor Seam Filler are sold separately in larger quantities for more extensive application. Mixed with the company's Super Resin and Hardener, the seam filler hardens into a tough compound for filling holes, cracks and gouges in the boat hull before covering it with glass plastic.

Boat Armor covering kits again feature an improved glass cloth with a finish which provides a better bond between the glass and resin used in covering boat hulls. The cloth is a special, 10-ounce fiberglass fabric woven and finished specifically for covering wooden boats

The combination of the improved glass cloth and Boat Armor plastic resin now enables boat owners to apply a tougher glass covering to their craft than ever before. Boat hulls properly covered will not rot or corrode. They will not absorb water and cannot be penetrated by marine borers. They have great impact and scuff resistance.

Glass Plastic Supply Company also supplies glass tapes in 3-inch, 4-inch and 6-inch widths for the repair or reinforcement of masts, spars, pipes and other circular or narrow surfaces. Woven glass roving and other heavier glass fabrics are also available.

FLEETCRAFT FEATURE COLOR STYLING

The Fleetcraft line for '56 comprises four basic models of outboards in 12' and 14' lengths. A wide variety of optional extras is available. Construction features molded fiberglass hulls in combination with Philippine mahogany decks and interior structure.

Optional color combinations reflect the color variety trend. The molded-in hull color range is increased to offer a choice of flamingo, turquoise or green. Deck treatments are available in the standard all natural finish; a tu-tone natural and blond combination or a "moderne" white-grained charcoal black.

In the 14' line, the Holiday headlines the fleet. Newly introduced is the 14' Special, a lighter and lower priced version of the same hull. The 12' Sportster is a junior companion of the Holiday. The new 12' Pal is a lower priced, lighter-weight version of the Sportster.

Fleetcraft boats are built by Fleetcraft, Inc., Palmyra, N. J.

assembly as described earlier. Line up the boss on the valve with the lower screw hole. Push the friction plug in, and start the throttle straight into the chamber. Do not turn the throttle.

When the throttle is flush with the edge of the chamber, start turning it slowly to the right (clockwise), at the same time pushing it gently until it drops into position.

When installing the cover assembly, use a new gasket. Twist the throttle lever around until the spring catch just fits loosely in the boss at the base of the lever. Now tighten the spring by turning the lever back to the first screw hole in the cover. In this position, install the cover assembly on the throttle housing, but be sure the throttle is in the off position. Keep the lever pointed up.

The installation of the carburetor on the motor is different for every motor due to the many types of linkages and synchronous controls used. This is particularly true of the more recent and larger types of motors. In all motors, install the carburetor on the manifold or crankcase with a new gasket and the nuts or screws as required.

On leaf valve models, install the leaf valve on the crankcase first. Then install the manifold and carburetor. Always use new gaskets. If a control panel is used install that next. Now attach the control knobs. Be sure the mixture needles are turned lightly against the seat first, then install the knobs at the lean or shut-off position, depending on the motor. After the linkage has been installed and adjusted, the motor covers can be replaced. (To be continued)

GULF FEATURES NEW PRODUCTS

Gulf Oil Corporation's newest marine product—Gulfpride Marine H. D. Oil has been developed in three natural viscosity grades—20/20W, 30, and 40—to meet the lubrication requirements of all types of inboard engines, both gasoline and diesel, under either fresh or salt water conditions.

Being a high detergency oil made from 100% alchlor processed paraffin base stocks, Gulf feels that the new product remarkably improves the number one problem in marine engines—internal cleanliness. Carbon formation and oil ring clogging are minimized, and engine parts are protected from rusting through the use of the new oil.

Gulf Marine White Gasoline has been further improved by the addition of two new qualities to this straight-run, water-white, gum-free, micronic-filtered marine fuel. A Gulf patented corrosion inhibitor in the new gasoline will end the boat owner's problems of corroded carburetors, fuel pumps and fuel tanks. The corrosion inhibitor also prolongs the life of marine engines by preventing the formation of fine abrasive rust.

The new gasoline has also been further improved to eliminate carburetor icing. Marine engines sometimes stall while idling and lose power under part throttle operating conditions during the engine warm-up period because of the formation of ice on the throttle valve. This condition occurs most frequently during the spring and fall boating season when atmospheric conditions of high humidity and temperatures in the range of 30-60° F. prevail.

Visitors to Gulf's booth may make application for a Cruisegide map of the area of their choice and further information on how they may obtain any of the series of Cruisegide books from their local Gulf Marine Dealer. The Cruisegide books are printed bi-annually and contain the newest and most complete information on all cruising matters important to the boat owner and operator. They come in a handy pocket size and in five volumes as follows: Harbors of the South; Harbors of Long Island Sound; Harbors of New England; Harbors of the Middle Atlantic States; and Harbors of Inland Lakes and Rivers.

Gulf pioneered in the use of Micronic Filters on marine gasoline fuel pumps, and the vast consumer acceptance of this extra step for further boating safety continues to increase.

Gulf's complete line of outboard products—Gulfpride Marine Outboard Oil, and both the grease and hypoid type underwater gear lubricants—rounds out their display.

With New Page Gage
Here's How It Works . . .

You just turn the platen to the GREEN FIGURE corresponding to the length of the paper you are using. Insert a sheet in the usual way, and start typing. As you get down to within 2½ inches of the bottom of the page, RED FIGURES show you exactly how much space is left—and keep showing you right down to the end! PAGE GAGE eliminates solid pages of spoiled paper, saves re-typing—keeps pages neat. Saves time and paper!

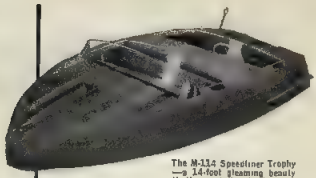
SPEEDLINER

FAMILY RUNABOUTS
FISHING BOATS
RACING HULLS

the Championship line of better built boats



The M-114 Speedliner Trophy —a 14-foot gleaming beauty that's ideal for family outings and water skiing.

New, Improved Models for '56

The 1956 Speedliners are the finest boats ever to come out of the modern General Marine factory in St. Joseph, Missouri! Every model in the Speedliner line has undergone design and construction improvements which are typical of General Marine's practice of constant product improvement.

For instance, the family runabouts have been redesigned to give more flare in the sides forward of amidships. This improvement not only eliminates the discomfort of having spray coming in over the bow, but it also adds greatly to the sleek, streamlined appearance of each runabout model.

Enlarged motor wells are another improvement which will be welcomed by 1956 boat buyers. The new Speedliner runabouts provide plenty of storage space for gas tanks and other equipment.

The '56 Trophy, Torpedo and Sportliner—three of the most popular Speedliner runabouts—have undergone design changes which raise the bow curve for better appearance.

Speedliner's racing models—which have captured 41 national and international racing championships and records in the last seven years—have been greatly improved for '56 too. Bottoms have been redesigned for better speed, greater maneuverability. Following the trend to bigger boats, Speedliner introduces a brand-new 16-foot runabout this year. Known as the M-116 Tropicana, this boat will incorporate the same construction features that have proved so successful in other Speedliner models.

Yes, this is the greatest year yet for Speedliner! Whether you want a family runabout, a fishing boat or a racing hull, you can count on the 1956 Speedliners for the best boats afloat! See your nearest Speedliner dealer or send the coupon below for new, colorful Speedliner catalog. It contains 28 sleek, streamlined models—one for every taste and every budget!

The M-414 Contessa—sporty open model with walk-thru front seat. Ideal family boat—can be used as runabout, fishing craft or skiing boat.

KREFFT REFRIGERATOR

The Krefft Convertible, a new marine refrigerator that operates on either butane or electricity, has been announced by Norman H. Lee, president of Norco Sales Corporation, sole U. S. distributors.

The outstanding feature is its quick convertibility from butane to electricity , a switchover that takes less than ten seconds. To accomplish this conversion, it is necessary only to remove the butane exhaust tube from a port at the top of the refrigerator and insert the electric plug-in element. This enables the boatman to use electricity while at the dock, then convert quickly to butane for the open sea. A kerosene-electric model is also available

The refrigeration unit operates silently, having no moving parts, and both gas and electrical consumption are low on both the 2.8 and 3.9-cubic-foot models. The electrical system operates on either A.C. or D.C.

Further details may be obtained by writing Norco Sales Corporation, 1263 Westwood Boulevard, Los Angeles 24, California.

LEERCAT-BEARCAT

Five years have passed since the first Leercat catamaran made its initial bow to the public. It's rather interesting we think, to see how the family has grown since then. Instead of the lone 16' model that represented the sailing catamarans, there are now five daysailer models and three cabin models to choose from in the sailing line.

The motor-driven models for 1956 include the new 19-foot Bearcat twin outboard model and the 64-foot Bearcat twin-screw cataraman.

These catamarans are produced by Leercat-Bearcat, Inc., P. O. Box 46134, Los Angeles 46, Calif.

Bearcat 64' motor catamaran. Speeds range as high as 29 knots with two 325 hp engines used as power.

CATERPILLAR

Engineers at Caterpillar Tractor Co. and Twin Disc Clutch Company have jointly designed and developed a new line of marine reverse and reduction gears built exactly to match Cat Marine Engines.

The new gear has been built to equal the life of the engine for which it is matched. Finger-tip control, hydraulically operated, permits fast operation and easy maneuvering.

The new gears will make Cat Marine Engine packages more compact requiring less length for installation. Equipped with the new gear, the Cat D337 (Series F) Marine Engine is 15 inches shorter than the former D337. This new compactness was achieved by mounting the two clutches side by side rather than in tandem

The gear has been designed and built for continuous operation at full load in either direction. This means that one model gear can handle both right and left hand propellers, and boats with multiple engines can use identical gears on each engine. For applications where extremely slow speeds are required, the gear can be equipped with a trolling valve

This attachment permits the propeller to turn at about one-third its ordinary low idle speed. Boats so equipped can maintain slight headway under continuous power without constant attention

AMERCOAT ANTI-FOULING FOR PLEASURE CRAFT

Because of its 12 year record of excellent performance in tropical waters, distribution of Amercoat No. 130 Anti-Fouling is now being expanded to all principal seaboard cities and inland ports. Even under the most severe tropical fouling conditions, No. 130 is remarkably effective in preventing the growth of all marine organisms, including teredoes.

Amercoat No. 130 is based on a formula developed by the Battelle Memorial Institute. Before the final formulation was perfected, research scientists made 2,288 individual experiments to discover the most effective combination of ingredients.

The high toxity of Amercoat No. 130 is due to its metallic copper pigment. Because it is in flake form, the finely divided pigment is dispersed evenly. Based on a "controlled dissolution" binder, the toxic agent is gradually released to the surface, yet is never wasted.

Although Amercoat Anti-Fouling is generally applied annually, there is a considerable margin of safety in its effective life. Users have consistently reported freedom from fouling for periods up to two years. It is easily applied by brush or spray, and although the vessel can be launched as soon as two hours after painting, leaving the coating out of water for several weeks will not lessen its effectiveness.

The names of nearby dealers who are participating in the expanded distribution of Amercoat No. 130 may be obtained from the Amercoat Corporation, 4809 Firestone Blvd., South Gate, Calif.

SUCCESSFUL SPORT FISHERMEN

One of the most successful of southern sport fishermen is the 40-foot Lazy Bones III, designed and built for Harry Peters of Hackensack, N. J., by John Rybovich & Sons Boat Works, West Palm Beach, Florida.

She's a handsome craft, 13 feet 4 inches beam, with twin Chrysler V-8s that provide a speed of 28 mph. She's equipped with dual controls and every accessory calculated to make the taking of big game fish more successful and more enjoyable for the owner.

Rybovich is also featuring 28-, 36-, and 43-foot models, all built to meet the owner's individual specifications.

DOCKS AND HOISTS OF STEEL

One of the most practical ways to protect a small boat from being pounded by waves against a dock during periods when she is not in use is by means of a hoist which lifts her clear of the water.

Specialists in the field of low-priced adjustable steel boat hoists are the Anchor Pier & Boat Hoist Corp., Rochester, N. Y. Other items in their line of shoreline equipment include adjustable steel docks and steel diving towers.

Anchor Pier is in a position to supply prefabricated steel dock structures which can be assembled to run out from shore any desired distance, to secure sufficient water depth. Hoists can be assembled as part of the piers. With Anchor Pier equipment one man can easily lift a boat clear of the water.

5-Cent, Full-Color Comic Book Published by Structo Mfg. Co.

A new 32 page full color comic book entitled "Bobby's Adventures in Structoland" has just been announced by Structo Manufacturing Company, Freeport, Ill.

Officially priced at 5¢, the book is being given free with each Structo toy, as a carton insert, and is offered free on request in Structo consumer advertising.

Sixteen of the 32 pages are devoted to the story of Bobby Brennan, who is whisked away to Structoland for adventures with Structo trucks, cars and road building machines. The other 16 pages picture and describe a wide assortment of Structo toys.

There are four different versions of the comic book. Each one relates a different adventure in Structoland.

The management at Structo states that to the best of their knowledge the custom-written comic book is the first of its kind to be offered by a toy manufacturer. Demand for the book is expected to be great.

Cordelco, Toy Gun Maker, Now In New Los Angeles Plant

Cordelco Industries, Inc., manufacturer of the well-known Snooty Piggy Banks and working replicas of modern guns (Luger, 45 Automatic, Carbine, and Tommy Gun), have moved into their new plant at 727 E. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles. The new plant, according to David C. Glass, president of the company, will double Cordelco's production facilities.

The building is designed with offices on the mezzanine floor. This permits the use of a clear, one-level span for the manufacturing and warehousing facilities.

Increasing sales following the introduction of two new items made it necessary to increase production facilities, Mr. Glass advised.

The new items, the #475 Automatic Cap Shooting Tommy Gun with Burp Action to retail for $2.98 and the #825 Little Piggy-goes-to-Market pull toy to retail for $1.98, are receiving a fine acceptance and the new facilities will make it possible to keep production in step with sales, he added.

Mr. Glass has announced the appointment of the following representatives for Cordelco: Nat Attenberg & Son for the New England States; Kaycee Associates, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City, for the New York area; Ralph Kohn & Son for the southeastern states; Clem Amorose for Indiana, Ohio Michigan and Kentucky; Persted Bros. for the midwest; Ben Thigpen for Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas; and Lou Miller for the 11 western states.

FROM ALL OVER

Members from 28 states in the U. S. and Canada attended the 1956 annual convention of the Bicycle Institute of America and its component groups at Boca Raton, Fla. It was the 38th conclave of the organization.

HO SCALE MODEL, "HOBO LOCO," BROUGHT OUT BY K & O MODELS

An extra locomotive for HO gauge fans is now part of the line of K & O Models, Inc., Van Nuys, Calif. Known as the "Hobo Loco," the new item is a scale model of the Santa Fe Diesel and retails at $8.95. It runs on a worm-driven DC motor which draws its power from two medium battery cells in the cab. Each set of batteries gives 90 minutes of operation at scale speeds. By alternating batteries every 30 minutes (using three sets) the operator can rack up 12 to 145 hours of running time.

With a forward and reverse switch below the center of the unit, the "Hobo Loco" can run back or forward on a "hot" rail without shorting out or interfering with any transformer-operated trains. Thus, two sets of trains can be run on a single layout at two different speeds in opposite directions -without the need for special wiring or an extra power pack.

The "Hobo Loco" is packed 12 boxes to a shipping carton weighing eight pounds. It is expected to be the first of a number of model railroad and toy train items that will be turned out by K & O.

Piersall, one of the finest fielders in the game, grew up with Mr. Robbins. They have been close friends for years.

NIKKOR LENSES

Many reports by outstanding photographic experts have described the new Nikon S-2 as the 35mm camera that has everything! With the sensational Nikkor lenses, it is in the very top bracket of 35mm cameras!
LENS. Super fast f 2 and F 1.4 Nikkor 50mm lenses are precision ground and polished hard coated color corrected for maximum transmission and absolute corner-to-corner negative accuracy. Yield superb black and white prints, brilliant color transparencies. Bayonet type lens mount assures rapid, simple changing of lenses and accurate lens alignment.
SHUTTER. Focal plane type operates horizontally. Calibrated dial setting for all flash bulb types assures positive synchronization with nothing left to chance. Synchro selector permits flash settings for speeds to 1 1000 of a second. Provision also for synchronization with speedlight units at 1 50 second. Shutter speeds can be set before or after winding the shutter, cover twelve speeds from one second to 1 1000 plus time and bulb and include the popular 1 15 second speed which so many photographers have long desired.
RANGE-VIEWFINDER- Combined in one window for fast, easy focusing, with a new feature of life-size image . . what you see is what you would ordinarily see with your eyes (makes it easier to compose picture). You can actually focus with both eyes open with this finder. Distances (infinity to 3 ft.) and depth of field are read directly from the focus mount.
FILM ADVANCEMENT: Two useful new features are the rapid film transport and the high speed rewind. One short stroke of your thumb advances the film and simultaneously cocks the shutter. There is no danger of double exposure although multiple exposures can be made without rewinding the film. The high speed rewind lever-crank on the rewind knob permits a 36 exposure roll to be rewound in as little as twenty seconds.
OTHER FEATURES: Removable back. Tripod socket built directly into the camera body at the center for balance. All settings and adjustments are located at the top of the camera, aperture settings on lens ring.

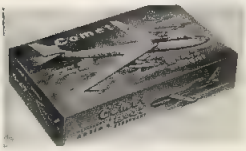
Plastic Models in Wide Price Range Announced by Comet



Long a leader in the balsa model airplane field, with a line of over 136 models, Comet Model Hobbycraft, Inc., 501 W 35 Street, Chicago, is now offering the trade and public a highly complete line of plastic model airplane kits in many price ranges

What is termed most interesting to the trade is the fact that these plastic models are being offered in the same "easy-to-stock, easy to-sell and easy-to-ship" wide assortments as the balsa wood models

Some time ago Comet announced a line of 29c plastic models, which included six famous jets and fighters, rich in authentic details, with clear plastic pedestals, correct includes not only such famous military planes as the Boeing Stratojet B-47, which is shown in the illustration herein and the Boeing Stratofortress B 52, but also popular sports and commercial planes like the Piper Apache, the Aero Commander and the Cessna 310. Also in the works is the first of a new series at 98c—the all-plastic model of the Boeing Stratotanker 707, with a wingspan of 13 7/16".

Realizing that plastic models also offer a profitable field in supplies, Comet has a full line of Paints for Plastics in 14 colors at 10c a jar, or a "set of seven" for 69c, and Comet Cement for Plastics in 10c and 25c lithographed tubes

Magnetix Toys, of Englewood, N. J., who last year introduced the TWA Electronic Jr. Pilot Trainer, have come up with another electronic toy called The Atomic Submarine Electronic Navigator. This new scientific toy has an electronic Sonar System which buzzes when a miniature Atomic Submarine is steered off its exact course through all the oceans and waterways of the world. By turning the pilot wheel the sub can be made to surface or dive. A tiny blue spark shows the "Atomic Reactor" at work. If the sub is in distress a telegraph buzzer key can be used to send messages. The toy also features a moving navigation chart which points to the sub's exact position on the globe

The Atomic Submarine Electronic Navigator's high impact plastic case measures 11" by 16" by 6". For ages 6 to 16, the item retails for $6.95.

Once again a high demand is anticipated for Magnetix Toys' top 1955 sales leader, the TWA Jr. Electronic Pilot Trainer. This item has received the endorsement of Trans World Airlines, was awarded the Parents' Magazine Seal of Approval, and

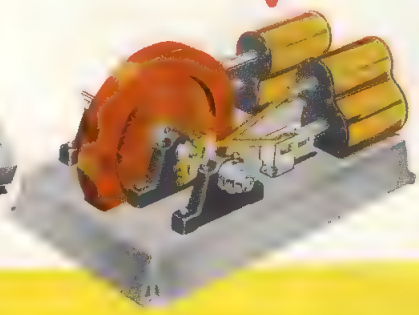
The Hobbyist's Dream Engine



Cartrol MP MAGNETIC-POWER ELECTRIC ENGINE

Do-It-Yourself KIT

This engine operates from any standard train transformer (100 watt or larger—7 to 24 volts) or is available with built-in transformer.

The all metal engine is mounted on a cast metal base. The flywheel, crankshaft, pillow blocks, connecting rods, cylinder end plates and pulley are precision cast metal parts. The pistons are precision machined and the cylinder covers of solid brass. The main bearing caps are designed with felt wick insert oilers.

The Cartrol M-P is truly an electromagnetic stationery engine, patterned after a great industrial steam engine of yesteryear. The motive force delivered to the crankshaft is from 4 tractive type solenoid magnets and what appears as a piston rod in the engine is actually the plunger of the solenoid.

The pull force of the electromagnets is timed through 4 two-way switches, causing the pull to start on the crankshaft when it is just past dead center. This timing is similar to the ignition timing in a four-cylinder gasoline engine. The crankshaft being a 4-throw shaft gives the engine 4 force impulses in one revolution which creates a continuous pull.

Engine speed is variable by changing the voltage. Additional power can be secured with the addition of the gear reducer.

Width—7¼", Length—12¼", Overall Height—6",
Weight—8 lbs., Shipping Weight 13½ lbs.

GEAR REDUCER—Base of the engine is predrilled for mounting of a Gear Reducer—(Optional)—which will increase power from the pulley on engine in ratio of eleven to one.

All runabouts and cruiser models are supplied with ready assembled machined frames, bevelled to fit the curvature of the planking and notched for chines, floor battens and keel. Every part of a U-Mak-It boat kit is properly identified, and easy-to-follow building directions, illustrated with step by step pictures make assembly as easy as ABC. First-grade hardwood and top-quality waterproof marine plywood assure the kit boat builder of a durable and seaworthy boat. The kits also contain brass fastenings, marine Weldwood glue, plywood bedding and mahogany trim.

The smallest U-Mak-It model is an 8' Jo Jo Pram. This is also available as a sailboat with all parts, including sail, available for easy and quick assembly.

Model V14 Sea D is a sturdy runabout combining luxurious styling and good performance. Equipped with two dashboards, the V14 Sea D offers a choice of steering from the forward or aft cockpit.

Three U-Mak-It cruisers, the 18' and 21' Flying Cloud and the 23' Zephyr are optionally inboard or outboard powered. They have sliding side windows, full-length bunks and space for the installation of toilet and galley. The outboard models have a self bailing motor box which encloses the motor entirely, eliminates noise and helps to keep the cockpit dry.

U-Mak-It Products offer a complete kit for the inboard installation. It includes all the necessary underwater fittings (shaft, propeller, rudder, strut, fuel installation, electrical cables and also a complete steering mechanism) prepared to suit individual needs, and accompanied by detailed instructions and installation sketches.

PABST BOATS

Pabst boats of La Crosse, Wisconsin are offering two new outboards for 1956, the Holiday 14 and Continental 18. Both models feature high-performance and soft-riding qualities and, with advanced, functional styling, these new models offer increased boating enjoyment.

The Holiday 14, offered in both two-cockpit and divided front seat models, is a mahogany-planked craft of 62" beam for motors of 15 to 40 hp. The Continental 18 with 6' 8" beam, also mahogany-planked, can be powered with single or twin motors of 18 to 40 hp.

For stock racing, the popular Pabst AB hydro and runabout will be available in limited numbers.

LAWRENCE PLYCRAFT

With the announcement of its new 1956 line of cruisers, runabouts and prams, Lawrence Plycraft, Inc., 39 South Canal St., Lawrence, Mass., unveiled its new family cruiser, the Admiral Glassclad 20. All of Plycraft's boats feature fiberglass construction, durability and ruggedness.

The Admiral Glassclad 20 hull is completely fiberglass-covered with a sanded and polished surface bonded to a heavy, oak-framed marine plywood hull. The entire oak framing is treated with Cuprinol preservatives. The plywood used throughout is super Harbord, 5-ply 3/8" marine plywood. Decks and cabin top are fiberglass-covered with a special non-skid finish for safety. The dimensions of the Admiral (20' 7" length, 98" beam, 6" draft) make for a very comfortable boat. A self-bailing motor well, with a hinged top to cut down noise, is so arranged that it takes up a minimum of cockpit space, and a transom seat extends the full width of the cockpit; the cockpit is self-bailing. Transom cutouts are available for either single or twin motors, for standard or long shaft motors, at no extra charge.

There are two bunks in the cabin with room for additional pipe berths. A fully enclosed head, galley cabinet, and similar features are also included. The cabin sides, coaming, seats, doors, etc., are made of mahogany, and the cabin door is designed so that it can serve as a cockpit table. There is stowage capacity under bunks and transom seat. Other standard features include a complete toe-rail around the deck, flying bridge windshield, sliding cabin side windows, fully opening cabin-front windshield, and running lights. The highest quality marine paints and finishes are used throughout wherever not fiberglassed. The boat is designed to use one or two outboards of any hp. (Deluxe version of Admiral, the Plycraft Flagship Glassclad 20, uses a 60 hp Gray marine engine.) The approximate weight of the Admiral is 1800 pounds.

The other craft in the Plycraft 1956 line include the Flagship, Commodore (18) cruiser, Captain (20) runabout, Commander (18) runabout, JayGee (18) runabout, Ensign (14) runabout, Chief (8) pram, and Bo'sun (8) prams.

TEMPO TOUCH-UP COLORS

Seven new products—six of them factory-approved touch-up colors for 1956 Johnson, Evinrude, Goodyear and Ward outboard motors—are among the marine line of Tempo Products Co., Inc., 2075 E. 65th Street, Cleveland 3, Ohio.

The seventh is a gold enamel. Like all Tempo products, it is aimed at providing a means for painless painting, with a specially developed pushbutton nozzle on an aerosol can, and brings the company's quality marine finishes to 46 items, rang-from bottom paints through deck and topside enamels to spar varnish and colors for boat trailers.

Like all the company's products, the new ones are guaranteed a perfect match, and can be applied without brush and with a minimum of fuss.

AERCO INDUSTRIES

Information of vital interest to small boat operators is the depth of water under the keel. Operating in shallow waters, a slight difference in depth of water has a lot to do with whether or not the boat can safely operate. Aerco Industries, Springfield, Mass., are marketing a device called Subscout, which will supply accurate data on depths of water to fractions of a foot. It works automatically and requires no power. It consists essentially of a Bourdon tube type pressure gauge with the dial calibrated in feet and fractions. Connected between the gauge and indicator by an armored co-axial cable, pressure changes are transmitted directly. It has numerous applications and will give the correct depths of any fluid in which it may be immersed.

This company is also introducing an entirely new underwater filler compound. This material can be used for all regular filler applications, but in addition will fill gouges and rips, splintered planks, holes large and small, and similar damage. It will work equally well on wood, steel or fiberglass. It will not rot, rust, soften, or dissolve under any normal conditions. Any depth of cavity can be filled in one application as the shrinkage is extremely small. It will be put up in pint-size cans.

BRITISH MARINE FIREPLACE

A miniature yacht fireplace, cleverly designed to take no room when installed even in small yacht cabins, has been announced by British Marine Products, Port Washington, New York. It is the fireplace which Americans have noticed in many outstanding yachts built in England, manufactured by Simpson Lawrence Ltd. of Scotland. Now available for the first time, the yacht fireplace burns coal, coke, and briquettes. It is completely safe to use, ideal for chilly mornings or late evenings. It is recessed into the bulkhead, and takes a minimum of space, yet at the same time is simple to install. The handsome tiled front is framed in finely finished stainless steel. The ashpan, front, and canopy are also stainless steel, so that the entire ensemble fits with most cabin color schemes. Dimensions of the yacht fireplace are 14½″ wide by 25″ high. It extends eight inches through the bulkhead, has a fire opening of 8″ and a smoke outlet of 3½″. It weighs 112 pounds.

For further information and literature write British Marine Products Ltd., Dept. BMR2, 80 Shore Road, Port Washington, New York.

WEBBPERFECTION RANGES

Elisha Webb & Son Co., 136 S. Front St., Philadelphia, Pa., have completed their sixtieth year of manufacturing WebbperfectioN Steel Galley ranges. In that time they have seen yachts change from steam to gasoline and then diesel and the ranges from coal to oil-burning. Today's small yachts are too small for WebbperfectioN ranges, but the company reports that they still supply many diesel-propelled work boats, viz. tugs, barges, etc., as well as the larger yachts.

In addition to building ranges of black steel, they are also called on to furnish them with stainless steel front and ends, chrome-plated trimimngs and polished top, to harmonize with the more attractive appointments of the modern galley.

The satisfactory cooking and baking qualities of the ranges, together with their low upkeep cost, is responsible for the company's long success in this field.

R & B PLANNING EASTER DOLL OUTFITS PROMOTION

R & B Doll Company reports their highly successful promotion of special Valentine's Day outfits for their popular "Littlest Angel" and "Sweet Pea" dolls is being followed up with a bigger promotion for Easter.

Eight new Easter outfits have been created for "Littlest Angel" and "Sweet Pea"—each packaged with a specially-designed Easter wrapper. After the Easter season is over, the wrapper is removed and the outfits are sold all year 'round as an addition to the regular line of ensembles.

"Littlest Angel's" outfits include a maize two-piece sleeper, party dresses, and a gabardine hat and coat ensemble. For "Sweet Pea," R & B has created a maize organdy pinafore, bouffant skirt and bonnet, knitted sleeper, and a coat and matching taffeta bonnet. Cuddly chicks and bunnies accompany all outfits, to lend a festive Easter note.

According to Mike Emerson, R & B sales manager, the firm has written more business during the first six weeks of 1956 than in any other similar period in R & B's 37-year history. Ninety per cent of these early year sales have been costumes for "Littlest Angel" and "Sweet Pea."

Mr Emerson also announced that "Littlest Angel" will be available in 1956 with a hard or soft head. Buyers will have their choice of a rooted Saran wig on a soft vinyl head or a fully lined stitched Saran wig on a hard head.

R & B's complete 1956 line of "Littlest Angel" and "Sweet Pea" ensembles, along with "Nanette," "Angel Face," "Angel Skin," and a new surprise number, will be unveiled at the Toy Fair

Brink's Stands Guard as Sample Books Are Shipped by Kaycrest

Brink's armored trucks and armed guards stood watch one day late in February when Kaycrest gift-wraps' new 1956 Christmas sample books, insured for $450,000, were mailed

In one of the most unusual shipments ever sent to the trade, Kaycrest sought to put a price tag on the intangible ingenuity, creativeness, and new ideas that were poured into this year's sample book

The Fireman's Fund Insurance Company and the Royal Company of Pittsburgh evaluated a pilot sample book and promptly placed almost a half-million dollars of coverage on the shipment.

"The coverage is to insure the sample books reaching Kaycrest buyers," reports Joseph M Katz, president of The Papercraft Corporation.

The actual production of the new Christmas book has been in progress for almost one year. It required a large staff two full months just to hand-assemble the hundreds of swatches and tip-ins that are incorporated in each book. Even actual sample packages of seals and tags are bound into each book.

Kaycrest's 1956 sample book again makes lavish use of full color printing The full book weighs almost four pounds and is two and a half inches thick. Included in it are more than 100 pages of actual paper, foil, and ribbon samples

In addition to the complete new designs for 1956 that are featured, a host of new products and new packaging firsts is introduced. All of these new Kaycrest packaging and merchandising innovations were pre-tested in major U S. market areas this past Christmas to "insure their success".

R & B DOLL, WONDER BOOKS COMBINE ON DOLL-BOOK ITEM

A novel new number, "The Surprise Doll," will be unveiled by R & B Doll Company at the Toy Fair.

"The Surprise Doll" is actually a doll plus a book in a package which appears to be a real book. The doll is "Littlest Angel," with a new attractive hair-do and all dressed up to look exactly like the little girl in the Wonder Book. Title of the latter is also "The Surprise Doll," the story of a little girl who wants a different doll for every day of the week.

The story, says R & B, lends itself to almost certain repeat sales of the doll's six attractive outfits The ensembles not only represent different days of the week; they are native costumes from six different countries—England, Russia, Italy, China, Holland and France.

As an additional sales feature, "The Surprise Doll" can also be dressed in all 36 outfits in the regular "Littlest Angel" line. The complete "Surprise Doll" package will retail for $3.98, with the outfits selling for $1 49 each

AERO HAWK INFLATABLE KITE SHOWN BY HAROLD EVERTS

The Aero-Kyte Corporation is introducing a toy which they feel is new and different enough to attract considerable attention It is the Aero Hawk, a full-sized inflatable kite made of plinfilm. The Harold Everts Company is acting as national sales office for Aero-Kyte, and the new inflatable kite is being shown in the permanent Everts showrooms in the Fifth Avenue Building, New York, Rooms 606-608. A Canadian affiliate, Don McCay & Company, 199 Bay Street, Toronto, will also show the kite

The Aero Hawk is 31" long by 23" at its wide point. It comes equipped with inner plinfilm tube, and is said to be easily assembled and quickly mended with Scotch Tape. The makers state that all the child has to do is to blow up the tube, seal the end with an elastic band, paper clip or Scotch Tape, use regular kite string in center holes, add tail as needed, and the kite will then be ready to fly in all weather and all seasons, in winds from four to 45 miles an hour. Made in four colors—red, blue, green and yellow—with a giant hawk printed on the kite, it is packed in a six by-eight poly bag with a colorful header. Complete, simple instructions are included in the bag. The retail price is 69c.

WHISTLING

Because toy whistles emit sounds, Belgian Congo natives regard them as sacred.

UNIVERSAL ENTERS JUVENILE DESK MANUFACTURING FIELD

Universal Company, High Point, N C., one of the country's leading manufacturers of television tables, will introduce its new "Junior Executive" line of juvenile desks, student desks, and juvenile desk and chair sets in the "Junior Executive" Suite, Rooms 705-707 at the Sheraton-McAlpin Hotel during the Toy Fair.

"This introductory showing," said Murray Abeles, president, "is designed with an entirely new concept in mind, a new approach to juvenile desks. We're calling it the 'Junior Executive' line because it not only represents a new interpretation in the styling of juvenile desks but also the use of color We've developed new manufacturing techniques. We're even erecting a new building on our High Point property to house the manufacturing facilities for this new line. And, we have every reason to believe that the 'Junior Executive' line will offer jobbers and merchants alike, tremendous merchandising possibilities and handsome profits."

SPARS AND FITTINGS

and calculations involving spars must be left to an architect. A good sailor and an amateur builder should know how to read the architect's language, feel at home in it, and be capable of carrying out his specifications if need be and communicating intelligence for good integration and team work

In some languages the mast is called literally "the tree" maybe because of the origin of materials rather than structural similarity. Yet, if the comparison to the tree sounds far-fetched, it is well to remember that it does not end at trunk and foliage but goes down to roots and soil-stepping and hull, that is. An architect takes all these factors into consideration, and with his highly specialized knowledge and careful planning designs adequate spars. Some spars break not because of terrific tempests encountered; rather, because they were conceived in the confused minds of notional fellows, or when mishandled by poor sailors. Money spent for an architect is well spent money, and, for him, it is hard-earned money.

With the basic box form of spar we can branch out to other shapes. Suppose an oval-shaped spar has to be built as in Fig. 3a. We can build a box spar in which this oval can be inscribed making sure also that there is enough stock for the thickness of the wall. Before assembling the spar the inner surfaces naturally must be shaped, and after the spar is glued the corners are shaved off. The flat quadrilateral surfaces make the clamping job for applying pressure very easy, so the outer shaping must be done after the clamps are removed

For the great majority of readers this general idea of spar structure would be sufficient. They would fall back on their own devices and initiative to take care of the rest But there are a few cantankerous individuals who claim that they have no mechanical understanding, that they are all thumbs, that they never get the same result when adding up a set of figures, and so forth. What they actually mean is that they are loath to use their imagination, that any little problem irks them, and that if there is a choice between the obvious and the absurd, they will choose the last just to be contrary. So let us pick up a few loose ends.

Taking the symmetrical spar of Fig. 2 as an example of an interesting deviation from the orthodox, we project the bottom surface and, although it is blocked there we still obtain an exact picture of how it is built up. If we cut the spar at any point above the solid part we obtain an exact picture of the cross section at that particular height. But we have several stations and it will be handy to have a template for each station for scooping inside, then fair the lines between stations; likewise for shaving the outside after the spar is glued.

Here the glued surfaces converge radially instead of being at right angles to each other. There is also a notch to increase grip and gluing surface. This is the cross section of an actual spar—Iris' mast with the old gaff rig, built by Graves in Marblehead—an excellent spar.

Some small masts are built in two pieces, scooped inside and glued together. They may have a groove where the bolt rope of the sail runs through—or sticks—and some fancy sailor will even go to the trouble of having another compartment or groove for the halliards. Since these tear- and oval-shaped spars are built for the best obtainable air foil, it is not rare to find that in some small craft they swivel in the socket to comply with the most exacting dicta of aerodynamics

While dwelling on general concepts it may be worth while to mention a type of spar that must be rare if not unique. One must be careful with claims lest somebody pop up with irrefutable proof that your pet trick was used by the Chinese in the year 4,000 B. C. Anyway, we built a gaff by using

with the Amazing Jointed Body that Bends and Swivels at Waist

Becomes Regular Walking Doll

Does a Split and Back Bend

Bends and Swivels — Ankles, Knees and Body

Kicks Out with Knee Bent or Straight

STAR OF THE BALLET Valentina Ballerina will dance right into your heart. Authentic in every detail, she wears long dance hose, real CAPEZIO Slippers and the glamorous tutu of the Blue Bird Ballet. Because her knees and ankles are flexible she assumes all of the positions illustrated and hundreds more merely by the touch of the finger.

But that's not all! For the first time in history a doll ingeniously jointed — at the waist, permitting her to bend and turn or sway in any direction. Her head is of soft life like vinyl. Her eyes open and close. Her hair is saran and is rooted in her scalp (actually imbedded like real hair) in a long full ponytail style. Her arms, too, are of the same skin-like vinyl, and are shaped to take on the graceful pose of a ballerina. The body and legs are fine unbreakable plastic. When you hold her and lead her she takes short dancing steps. By lowering her foot to a normal walking position she can be dressed in street clothes and becomes a regular walking doll. Valentina comes with a 3 way reflector practice bar that serves as a stand and as an attractive display piece. You'll treasure Valentina Ballerina for years and years. Truly a doll masterpiece!

DOREENA BALLET TOUR

36 PIECE DOLL, WARDROBE and STAGE SET

This 20" package of joy is the greatest thrill ever for your little dancer. Her head is soft life-like vinyl. Her eyes open and close. Her hair is saran and is rooted in her scalp (actually imbedded like real hair) in a long full ponytail style. The body and legs are fine unbreakable plastic. When you hold her and lead her she takes short dancing steps, and turns her head from side to side. But, that's not all!!! Because her knees and ankles are flexible and she can assume any of the positions illustrated and hundreds more merely by a touch of the finger. By lowering her foot to a normal walking position she can be dressed in street clothes and becomes a regular walking doll. Along with the Doreena Doll is her wardrobe for street wear and stage wear.

She has authentic Ballet costumes for:

- Swan Lake
- Beau Danube
- The Nutcracker and, Oh yes!
- A leotard for practice, too

Going to and from the theatre — she must wear street clothes — so she has regular walking shoes and short socks — a lovely street dress and a dressy little coat and hat. Her shoes are by CAPEZIO. When she has a formal to attend after the theatre, she wears her beautiful velvet Beau Danube costume with a matching velvet stole. For sleeping, she has a lovely sheer Ninon nightgown. An extra pair of dance shoes and dance hose are also included — Not to mention hangers for her things, and curlers to change her hair style from time to time.

Since she sometimes performs at parties and teas, she has her own stage which travels with her — and her wardrobe hangs in the two sections that fit right into this compact set. There never was a doll like this before.

STAR OF THE BALLET. Valentina Ballerina will dance right into your heart. Authentic in every detail, she wears long dance hose, real CAPEZIO Slippers and the glamorous tutu of the Blue Bird Ballet. Her eyes open and close. Her hair is saran and is rooted in her scalp (actually imbedded like real hair) in a long full ponytail style. Her arms, too, are of the same skin-like vinyl, and are shaped to take on the graceful pose of a ballerina. The body and legs are fine unbreakable plastic. CRACKING DECKS and LEAKING SEAMS

BOAT OWNERS! Use Liquid Neoprene everywhere, inside and outside, for lasting, water-tight jobs.

BOAT YARDS! You can use Liquid Neoprene outside in cold weather, adding to your plant volume.

The answer to paint-sick, cracked, leaking decks . . . and to open seams that show up at fit-out time . . .

LIQUID NEOPRENE

DuPont's Synthetic Rubber

Goes on like paint . . . has the bonding strength, resilience, abrasion resistance and elasticity of rubber. Neither chips nor peels in 250° heat or Arctic cold. Adheres to all metal, wood, cement or rubber surfaces. Ideal for canvas decks.

DuPont introduced Neoprene in 1932, but now you can have it in (1) liquid form to paint on decks; (2) in Hulcote, a "buttery" consistency for under-water use; (3) in seam compound that stretches but never cracks.

Most versatile sealer, DuPont Neoprene resists heat, sunlight, flex-cracking, aging, abrasion, oxidation, oils, chemicals.

NEW LINE OF ALUMINUM OUTBOARDS

Being shown for the first time this year in the Chicago National Boat Show is a completely new line of aluminum outboard boats manufactured by Naden Industries located in Webster City, Iowa. Offered initially this past summer in the Midwestern market, they found immediate and enthusiastic acceptance among sportsmen and boating enthusiasts.

Naden boats feature a full hard-temper, hand-formed aluminum hull with a completely rib-free bottom which allows free flow of water from bow to stern. All models contain an automatic drain at the stern which utilizes the center keel as a natural housing for the drain. With full seat bulkheads, wide beam and rigid construction they are capable of handling the largest outboard motors with ease. Fifteen standard models are being offered in 12-, 14- and 16-foot lengths

WILMAPEG TRIPLES TRAILER CAPACITY

The removal of the Wilmapeg Industries Corporation, Steel Products Division, boat trailer factory from Fayette, Ohio to Morenci, Michigan has been announced by Harry Carpenter, president. The new quarters where the new line of trailers will be produced, has tripled the capacity of the former plant.

SEAMAN FEATURING TWO MODELS

Boats now being built for the 1956 season by Seaman Seacraft Company, Inc., Roslyn, L. I., N. Y., include the popular Seaman Lightning and the comfortable cruising sloop, Seaman 30.

The Seaman 30 is an auxiliary sloop 30 feet overall in length with 8' 6" beam. Designed by W. H. Tripp, Jr., this fine auxiliary has complete cruising accommodations for four. She features full headroom, 16 hp auxiliary engine, complete galley with stove, sink and ice chest. Her fine appointments include an enclosed head, four berths with Airfoam mattresses and ample storage space. She is constructed of the finest materials with mahogany planking over oak framing, all bronze screw-fastened. Rigging is stainless steel, hardware and winches by Merriman

The Seaman Lightning is recognized as one of the finest boats in her class. For racing she is light in weight, as light as the class rules will allow. The Lightning Class offers the keenest racing competition, with over 6000 boats registered and sailed throughout the world. She is also ideal for the beginner or for day sailing

WEAVER SPLIT RING DETACHABLE

Top Mounts

Side Mounts

With Separate Bases

New in design, convenience and attractiveness. The unique clamping arrangement of the upper and lower parts of the split ring is positive and rigid. The clamping surface extends the full width of the ring for maximum strength and accurate alignment.

Clamping arrangement eliminates screws and the protruding ear of conventional split rings, leaving the ring with a smooth unbroken contour.

Weaver detachable mount bases, both top and side, are used with either solid or split ring mounts.

Based on the proven principles incorporated in the popular Weaver detachable mount.

With the specially designed split ring mount it is not necessary to remove turret or eye piece of the scope in order to mount it, this makes for greater ease in mounting. The mount rings are interchangeable on the bases. It is possible to use one scope on two rifles by obtaining extra bases or to use two scopes, a 2½X for big game and 6X for varmints, on the same rifle.

Complete instruction for attaching to gun included with every mount.

★ UNDER THE BLUE ENSIGN ★

At the Annual Fall Board Meeting of the Eighth District in New Orleans on October 29, reports of the various division captains showed that attendance in boating safety courses had reached an all time high, approximately 400 per cent over last year. A highlight of the meeting was the description of the Mobile Plan by John C. Tainter, division captain of Div. II, Mobile, Alabama. A boating safety quiz is conducted each year in the public schools with the cooperation of the school boards and other city and county officials and reaches several thousand children in both grammar and high schools. Prizes are awarded to winners in the various schools and finals are broadcast over a local radio station.

The District meeting was concluded after electing a new slate of district officers for 1956: Dr. J. W. Rosenthal, New Orleans, La., commodore; J. W. Hill, Houston, Texas, vice commodore; J. C. Tainter, Mobile, Ala., rear commodore.

The Seventh District Auxiliary held a highly successful annual Fall Convention at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. on October 28-30. Over 250 members, wives and guests were in attendance to make the affair the largest ever held in the district. Distinguished guests present included Chief Director, Capt. H. B. Roberts and Capt. S. P. Swicegood, district commander. Convention entertainment included a deep sea fishing tournament, a sight-seeing trip, a fish fry, a fashion show, a water ballet and the convention ball, plus panel sessions on Auxiliary subjects. William Keane of Boynton Beach flotilla received the National "A" award from Captain Roberts for an outstanding rescue at Boynton Inlet. W. S. Schley, captain of the Seventh's Division VIII, was presented with a certificate by Ldr. R. J. LoForte, district director, officially designating his unit as the Big Bend Division, as that Division's area covers the western part of Florida which bends northwestward to form the eastern shore of the Gulf of Mexico. Officers elected for 1956, at the board meeting on the final day were A. Harlow Merryday, Palatka, Fla., commodore; Richard L. Smith, Miami, vice commodore; Miguel A. Colorado, San Juan, rear commodore and Herbert E. Lutz, Fort Lauderdale, rear commodore.

Results of the remaining annual fall elections of district officers have been reported to National Headquarters. The First District elected Clarence E. Emery of Whitman, Mass., commodore, Harland B. Bruns of Portland, Maine, vice commodore and Leon F. Mowry of Andover, Mass., rear commodore. In the Ninth District, board members chose Charles S. Greanoff of Lakeview, Ohio as commodore; Joseph V. Day of Chicago, Illinois, vice commodore and Bert Kitson of FACTS BEHIND WESTERN'S Champagne Flights...

Travel experts acclaim the celebrated "Champagne Flights" of Western Airlines as one of America's smartest air services. Behind their popularity lie carefully planned innovations in luxury air travel . . . and advanced sales techniques to match. As a supplier of parts and accessories to Western Airlines, PAC takes pride in its contribution to this achievement.

PAC DELIVERS FAST... PROVED BY WESTERN'S STUDY

A study conducted by K. W. Kendrick, Director of Purchasing for Western Airlines, has proved the advantages in using PAC as a source of supply. Mr. Kendrick's survey revealed that of all orders placed with PAC, over 75% were completed within 30 days and over 90% within 60 days. Pacific Airmotive's "APS"* has enabled Western to reduce inventories substantially, thereby releasing inventory dollars for other purposes. PAC is proud of this record and the confidence that Western has placed in its service. If you would like the complete story of how PAC can provide similar savings and service to your organization, write, wire or phone today.

This new, lightweight regulator maintains precise response for the Fury's full power controls....
UNDER ALL TEMPERATURES AND FLIGHT CONDITIONS!

High speed fighters, such as the Navy's North American FJ-4 Fury, demand instant response at all times, and under all conditions. Particularly with today's full power controls, a precision system is essential for flying stability.

Pacific Cable Tension Regulators help provide this precise control response by automatically compensating for temperature variations and structural deflections which adversely affect control cable tension.

All Pacific Regulators are simple, self-contained mechanical devices with no hydraulics or electrical systems used...no valves or switches...no service or maintenance problems. They can reduce rig tension by 50 to 75% with a corresponding reduction in friction, and improvement in pilot "feel."

The new Model R-87, shown above, was designed particularly for use on fighters and other applications where space and weight are very much at a premium. Other models are available designed as an integral part of a quadrant, cable drum, pulley or built in-line with the system.

Also, Pacific engineers are available to design a custom installation or fit an existing model to your specific control system needs. Write today for more information!

permitting UAC personnel to pursue higher education while maintaining employment with the company, the school will be opened later to any resident of the Hartford area.

Along with increasing the supply of teachers this country must consider raising the level of what is taught, many observers feel.

DeWitt, in his study of Soviet professional manpower, points out that Russian training in mathematics and the sciences appears to be more thorough than ours.

Soviet engineering education is characterized by long hours, full weeks, and a substantial part of the year spent in actual attendance at class—far more than the equivalent in the United States, DeWitt says.

DeWitt points out that in Russian elementary schools, grades 1 to 4, technology and basic sciences take up 28% of the school time, in intermediate grades 33%; in upper secondary school grades, the figure is over 40%.

In engineering schools, approximately 6.8% of the time is spent on what we would call the "humanities"; more than 25% is spent in general science, 25% is spent in general, non-specialized engineering; the remainder, except for 6-10% devoted to military training and physical education, is spent in the student's narrow engineering specialty.

Brig. Gen. Carlton S. Dargusch, assistant director for manpower, Office of Defense Mobilization, suggests a national system of awards to increase student as well as teacher interest in science and technology.

Dargusch's proposal is for an initial fund of at least $1 million. The awards would go to students and teachers in both high school and college for superior performance and outstanding contributions.

Several programs along this line have been in force for some years. Probably the best known is Westinghouse's annual science talent search.

In addition, several companies, notably General Motors, maintains a long-term promotional program, designed to interest the nation's youth in technology as a career.

Education got a tremendous boost late last year when the Ford Foundation announced its $500 million grant, mainly designed to raise teaching salaries. In addition, more scholarships are being made available constantly to help those attend school who might otherwise not be able to.

Today, fewer than half the young people in the top quarter of the population from the IQ standpoint finish a four-year college course. The most general reason behind this failure is financial. It is hoped that increased scholarship opportunities will help increase the yield from this rich source.

Phillips 66 LOOKS AHEAD with UNITED

"We made a $5,500,000 investment in the future of air freight." That is the statement of R. L. Mangold, manager of cargo sales, United Air Lines. Mr. Mangold referred to United's recent addition of five new DC-6As to its cargo fleet. This addition to its DC-4 Cargoliners will expand United's all-cargo productivity from 125,000 to 225,000 ton miles daily. The 5-mile-a-minute DC-6A cargo carriers will fly coast-to-coast in less than a half a day, including an en route stop; they will cut 6 hours westbound and 5½ hours eastbound from transcontinental flights.

ACCENT ON SPEED; cruising speed of 300 miles an hour and quick loading through oversize main cabin door assure swift delivery of mail, freight, express.

HUGE MAIN CABIN has 4,433 cubic feet of space, more than 200 tie-down rings and is pressurized. Temperature control permits range of 40 to 70 degrees.

LARGE-SIZE OBJECTS, hitherto restricted from air shipment, fit easily into the spacious cabin of United's DC-6A. Cargo capacity is 30,000 pounds.

Today, Phillips 66 Aviation Gasoline gives dependable, efficient performance to United and other leading air lines, as well as to the military air services.

In step with the future, Phillips is a leading producer of super performance Jet Fuels for the latest designs in turbo-props and jets. And Phillips research continues to lead the way for development of fuels for the aircraft of tomorrow.

Magnificent views of Casco Bay on the east and the mountains on the west are to be had from Portland's Eastern and Western Promenades, beautiful landscaped esplanades on high ground at either end of the city. Noteworthy points include its unsurpassed water system (from Sebago Lake); Kotzschmar Memorial Organ in Portland City Hall, with public summer recitals by outstanding organists; Portland Municipal Airport (Class 3) near the Stroudwater terminus of the old Cumberland-Oxford Canal; the Wadsworth-Longfellow House; Portland Observatory on Munjoy Hill; Tate House; Victoria Mansion, the many museums and art exhibits and Portland's nearness to beach, lake and mountain.

C-130 pilots have NESA® windshields for good visibility

Lockheed's C-130 Hercules is the Air Force's first turbo-prop transport. It is built to fly higher and faster or lower and slower (and more economically) than any existing military transport. The cargo compartment is much larger than a standard railroad freight car. It will carry about 20 tons of cargo.

This is truly a workhorse airplane—and it must be ready to fly in all sorts of weather. NESA Flexseal® electrically heated windshields were selected to protect the pilot against the hazards of icing and fogging. Tolerances are so close that windshields are directly interchangeable between different fuselages.

Our Technical Representative will be glad to discuss difficult aircraft glazing problems with you. Just write to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Room 6391, 632 Fort Duquesne Boulevard, Pittsburgh 22, Pa.

This is NESA. NESA is a transparent, electrically conductive coating applied to hot glass as it comes from the furnace. Electrical energy is delivered to the NESA surface by fired-on bus bars located on opposite edges of the glass. A laminate with NESA usually contains a sealed-in temperature sensing element to prevent overheating of the interlayer material.

Sufficient voltage is applied between the bus bars to provide heat dissipation to a typical NESA windshield of about 2100 BTU/hr sq ft, usually enough to melt ice and prevent fogging.

outskirts of the city, with square-tails, brown trout and perch, while many excellent nearby brooks provide good trout fishing. Taylor Pond, just west of Auburn, and Sabattus Pond, east of Lewiston, are favorite swimming, cottage and boating spots for twin-city residents.

In Western Androscoggin County is the famous lake and resort area of Poland Spring, capped by the world-renowned Poland Spring Hotels. The Mansion House and Poland Spring House stand at the top of Ricker Hill, which commands a broad panorama of hills and lakes. The sunsets from Ricker Hill are one of the most beautiful sights in Maine. Grouped about the base of the hill, which has a world-famous golf course, are the five Range Ponds, with excellent fishing, boating and bathing facilities. Poland Spring also is the home of Poland water, which is shipped all over the world. The Spring House, with its gleaming marble and spotless metal interior, is visited annually by thousands of people

Beyond Poland Spring are Tripp Lake and the southern end of Thompson Lake, which stretches into Cumberland and Oxford Counties. Both are popular resort and tourist centers, with excellent boating, fishing, hunting and water sports facilities.

Dairying, poultry raising, canning crops, apples and potatoes are the chief agricultural activities of Androscoggin County. Canning factories are located at Auburn, Poland, West Minot, Livermore Falls and Leeds. Turner, Turner Center, Durham and Greene also are centers of farming areas based on livestock, vegetables and orcharding Livermore and Livermore Falls, at the northern tip of the county, are agricultural and industrial centers, the latter having one of the largest paper mills in Maine, a famous foundry, a glove factory and a large cannery, besides numerous commercial establishments. Numerous small ponds and streams dot the area.

Lisbon and its business center, Lisbon Falls, is the site of the Worumbo Manufacturing Company, long famous for its men's coatings and other fine fabrics, a linoleum factory, and lumber mills. Mechanic Falls, on the western side of the county, is a commercial center for a pond and stream area and has several wood products plants.

The area of eastern Androscoggin County, reached through Wales, Webster, Sabattus, Greene, Leeds and East Livermore, adjoins the famous Kennebec Lakes Region and all of its streams, ponds and lakes including Androscoggin Lake, are well-known to fishermen, cottagers and vacationers.

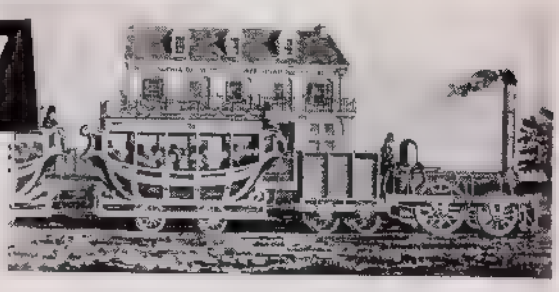
PROGRESS and the READING

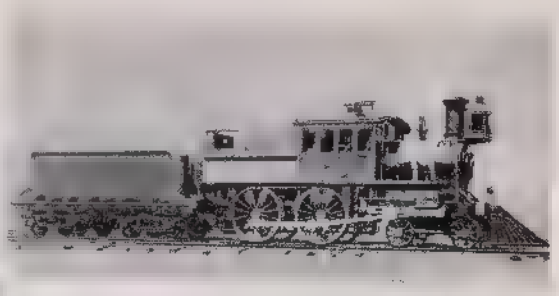
...always on the move!



"Old Ironsides", built in 1832, was the first engine to run on the Reading Railroad as well as the first to make scheduled runs in Pennsylvania It was constructed for the Philadelphia, Germantown and Norristown Railroad

In more than 120 years of dependable Reading service, one dominant feature stands out. And that is continuous progress—unending improvement in every part of the railroad operation. The Reading is truly a railroad for which "firsts" have become a time-honored tradition.

The same kind of research and improvement that has marked Reading progress throughout its history is being carried forward now as never before. Today, as in the past, you have the assurance that your important freight will be carried quickly, safely and economically!



Locomotive 411, built by the Reading Railroad in 1880, was the heaviest class passenger engine constructed in the United States at the time This pioneer, anthracite-burning, "Camelback"-type locomotive was the high-speed engine of its day. Most important, it exerted marked influence on the development of high-power boilers for the mighty steam locomotives that were to follow

Today's streamlined locomotives, like this modern diesel-electric, help keep The Reading one of the nation's most progressive railroads

READING AND RAILWAY AGE PROGRESS TOGETHER TOO!

A steady parade of improvements in railroading made by the Reading has appeared in RAILWAY AGE during the past century The Reading considers itself fortunate to be covered by such an able railroad magazine Best wishes for the next century

automatic fire control by Reeves

USS FORRESTAL has been aptly described by Secretary of the Navy Thomas as "... the biggest ship ever built, the most complicated ship ever built, the most powerful ship ever built."

An important factor contributing toward making the Forrestal "the most powerful ship ever built" is the dependably accurate Automatic Gun Fire Control system which guides the fire of its anti-aircraft guns. Designed and built by the Reeves Instrument Corporation in conjunction with the U. S. Navy Bureau of Ordnance, this equipment, service tested on the USS FORRESTAL, has since been installed on its sister ship, the USS SARATOGA.

Systems engineering is our business. Whether for guidance, radar, fire control, computers or servo-mechanisms, Reeves has the man-power and the facilities to originate designs and produce entire systems.

Missile Guidance by Reeves

IN U.S. NAVY'S FIRST GUIDED MISSILE SHIP

USS BOSTON, first of the U.S. Navy's guided missile cruisers, highlights another important advance in the continuing program of guidance systems development in progress at Reeves for the U.S. Navy Bureau of Ordnance.

Equipment installed in the USS BOSTON, born of successful experience with previous Reeves installations in USS MISSISSIPPI and USS NORTON SOUND, permits a new high degree of continuous precision control of the ship-to-air missile flight path right up to the moment of impact.

Reeves' work with the U.S. Navy and U.S. Air Force goes back to the earliest stages of their successful missile guidance programs. If you are concerned with the placing of prime or sub-contracts in the fields of missile or aircraft guidance, radar, gunfire control, servo-mechanisms or computer systems of any type, you should investigate Reeves' exceptional . . . and thoroughly experienced . . . research, engineering and manufacturing facilities.

Five major assemblies in the Voodoo are commercially pure titanium or titanium alloy. For the fairing assembly alone — where high strength is required — McDonnell effects a 33% weight saving by using titanium.

TITANIUM boosts the Voodoo's performance

The McDonnell F-101A Voodoo, Strategic Air Command's long-range supersonic fighter, owes much of its high performance to generous use of strong, light-weight titanium.

In vital areas of this and other modern aircraft, titanium alloys provide high strength at high temperatures. Many of the most successful and widely used titanium alloys were developed at REM-CRU, whose technical groups established manufacturing and inspection techniques which made possible tonnage production.

What's more, thanks to REM-CRU's expanded facilities, titanium is available for commercial as well as advanced military aircraft. For dependable service on all standard mill products . . . or technical assistance in applying titanium . . . call or write REM-CRU today.

REPUBLIC KNOWS HOW TO FIT AN ENGINEER WITH AN OPPORTUNITY

...how to select an advanced aircraft assignment that utilizes an individual engineer's professional know-how and creative talents to the best advantage of the man and the company

...AT REPUBLIC AVIATION we don't shove an engineer into a particular "slot," just because an opening exists without regard for his individual interests and capacities.

...when a project is completed, we never push the professional staff "on to the street." Instead, we plan ahead and have jobs ready for them. In fact, in the last decade, not a single engineer or scientist has been dropped at this company for lack of a suitable assignment.

...when we hire a man at Republic, we like to think it's "for keeps" if his work equals our expectations.

Republic Aviation can follow this policy because we've been expanding for 25 years, not only in the design, development and production of advanced aircraft, but in the missiles field as well. A growth record like this is the best assurance of job permanence an able man can have.

Proud as Republic men are of our many pioneering achievements in aircraft design, such as the F-84 Thunderjet, F-84F Thunderstreak, RF-84F Thunderflash — and the incredible new F-105 and F-103, there's no temptation to rest on past laurels here. In the highly competitive aircraft industry, it's always the future that counts.

This means that new openings are continually being created at Republic for professional men with sound technical knowledge and creative ideas.

And Republic has a salary scale and benefits program that is a model for the industry.

New Douglas DC-8... 6½ Hours from Empire State to Eiffel Tower

Douglas DC-8's, America's first passenger jet transports, will open a new era in economical air travel beginning in 1959. Powered by an advanced version of Pratt and Whitney J-57 engines (proved in military service), the DC-8 will carry 80–125 passengers, non-stop, between the United States and European cities, regardless of adverse winds. At speeds in excess of 550 mph., the DC-8 will fly nearly 200 miles per hour faster than the famous prop-driven DC-7. Estimated flying time from New York to Paris—6½ hours; Los Angeles to New York—4½ hours.

To help achieve this remarkable performance, plans for the Douglas DC-8 include the wide use of strong, lightweight aluminum mill products from Reynolds.

Whenever aviation advances, Reynolds Aluminum advances with it. Every step in Reynolds production is geared to the requirements of all constantly progressing industries

Reynolds goes beyond meeting rigid material specifications Reynolds technical services make a continuing contribution to customers' design and engineering staffs—make Reynolds a part of many important industries rather than just a supplier.

lage centers for nearby summer estates and resorts. Near Prospect is Fort Knox, a massive structure of Mt. Waldo granite, commanding one of the most beautiful views on the Penobscot River. On the road to Frankfort are the surface quarries of Mt. Waldo, where countless tons of fine granite have been cut out of the mountainside. Frankfort is a riverside town, once an important seaport, overshadowed by Mt. Waldo, from whence has come much of the finely-polished granite for government buildings in Washington, New York's Church of St. John the Divine and Boston's New England Mutual Building, to name only a few.

Winterport is an historic town of many fine homes, including the Blaisdell homestead, built in 1789 and designed by Christopher Wren, famous English architect. As the head of winter navigation on the Penobscot it was once an important shipbuilding community and seaport and these activities still are carried on to a limited extent.

One of the main roads leading into Belfast from the west is Route 3 from Augusta. This traverses the Waldo County towns of Palermo, Montville, Liberty, Searsmont and Belmont. Belmont's Tilden Pond is a popular summer resort, while Lake Quantabacook between Searsmont and North Searsmont offers many cottages and charming scenery in every direction. Nearby is the country home of the late Ben Ames Williams where he wrote many of his famous novels. Liberty, on Georges Lake, is the site of the 5,310-acre St. George State Park, located also in adjoining Montville. Palermo is near Sheepscot Lake, making it an ideal place to fish, rest and enjoy life in the open.

Waldo, Brooks, Knox, Morrill, Freedom, Thorndike, Unity, Troy and Burnham are on Route 137 and connecting roads and in an area serviced by the historic and unique Belfast and Moosehead Lake Railroad. All are inland towns that have rivers, lakes, streams and groves that appeal to those in search of recreation and rest. Unity Lake is one of the best black bass and brown trout fishing waters in this section of Maine.

Swanville is located on Swan Lake, noted for its salmon fishing and offers fine accommodations for tourists. Monroe and Jackson are farming and lumbering communities where tourists may rest at farm homes and enjoy the delicious foods that Maine women always seem to know how to cook best

AROUND THE WORLD WITH SIKORSKY HELICOPTERS

SAVED—A DANISH SEAMAN—A Sikorsky HO4S helicopter from the U. S. Coast Guard Station at Salem, Mass., takes a Danish sailor from the merchant ship Paula Dan 25 miles off Block Island. The sailor, stricken with acute appendicitis, was lifted in the basket visible below the helicopter and was flown to a hospital ashore for surgery.

SAVED—A U. S. COASTGUARDSMAN—Two days later the same HO4S helicopter picked up a U. S. Coastguardsman from the Nantucket Lightship. Also a victim of acute appendicitis, the man was quickly and safely taken to the same shore hospital. Helicopters have rescued more than 10,000 people in all parts of the world.

LARGER S-58s FOR NEW YORK AIRWAYS—The first of a new fleet of 12-passenger Sikorsky S-58s has been delivered to New York Airways, the helicopter airline serving Greater New York and nearby communities in three states. Sabena Belgian World Airlines has ordered eight for its European helicopter service. Both lines currently use Sikorsky S-55s. The S-58s will be the largest helicopters to be in regular airline service anywhere in the world.

HELICOPTER HISTORY

FIRST SCHEDULED HELICOPTER SERVICE

On October 1, 1947, the world's first scheduled helicopter service was started by Los Angeles Airways, carrying air mail. One of the line's original Sikorsky S-51s, above, is still operating and has flown 10,000 hours. Los Angeles Airways was a pioneer in night operation and instrument flying, and carried over 10 million pounds of air mail in its first three years. The line now carries passengers as well as mail and express in its fleet of Sikorsky S-55s.

HARD WORK IN ICELAND—Supporting an aerial survey team in Iceland, this Sikorsky H-19 of the U.S. Air Force carried personnel and supplies between ship and shore bases. In 23 flying hours, the helicopter carried 41 people and 47,000 pounds of cargo. This is a good example of how rugged Sikorsky helicopters can operate from very small areas, with minimum support facilities, and under a variety of weather conditions.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH SIKORSKY HELICOPTERS

FIRST S-58 TO BELGIUM—The first units of a fleet of 12-passenger Sikorsky S-58Cs have been delivered to Sabena Belgian World Airlines. Sabena will operate the fleet on its European routes. Larger and more powerful than the S55s Sabena now flies, the S-58C, named the Continental, cruises at 105 miles per hour.

1000th S-55—B. L. Whelan, general manager, and Igor Sikorsky, engineering manager, mark a milestone in production of transport helicopters with completion of this 1000th Sikorsky S-55, a Marine Corps HRS. Two newer and larger helicopters are also in production, the S-58 and the twin-engined S-56.

Delivering groceries to the Sierra crest

Snowbound in June! Every year from November to the first days of summer, a snow-survey engineer and his wife are isolated in their home high in the mountains south of Lake Tahoe. And each month Max Jones, a grocer of Gardnerville, Nevada, flies over the Sierra Nevada's crest to drop fresh vegetables, meat and mail into the soft snowdrifts piled near their door.

"Much of the trip is low-level flying," says Mr. Jones. "In spite of going over the top at 10,000 feet I don't have much room to spare. But even in a downdraft I get all the power I need with Chevron Aviation Gasoline 80/87 in our Stinson's Lycoming. Chevron 80/87 gives me performance to spare when I'm climbing, yet I can lean down for real economy in level flight. Burns clean, too; never fouls plugs.

"Flying over this kind of rugged wilderness calls for a really dependable engine. Ours has 500 hours on it now, and RPM Aviation Oils have kept it good as new. Compression is still up to factory standards. It's never missed a beat, always runs smooth as a watch. All the years I've flown, I've never had engine trouble using 'RPM'."

TIP OF THE MONTH

Downdrafts are often violent near the top of a mountain range. Mr. Jones advises flying on the windward side of any ridge or pinnacle; then you can turn upwind if you hit a pocket.

It is with pride that Stroukoff Aircraft is producing for the United States Air Force the most efficient advanced assault air transport in the history of military aviation.

This development combines slow landing speeds through means of the Boundary Layer Control system, and includes the Pantobase installation, both designed by Stroukoff Aircraft Corporation.

The MS-8-1 is able to land and take-off from unprepared surfaces such as rough terrain, sand, snow, ice, ordinary runways and to operate from water as well. It will do so at low speeds never before possible with aircraft of its weight; and in half the area needed by its prototypes.

airlines, enabling each to instantly interrogate the other's reservations computer or Availability Panel for connecting space.

Although electronic inventory control systems will do much to speed reservations handling to enable the airlines to cope with anticipated traffic growth, there will still remain a large and costly area of manual operations. For example:

- Name of each passenger, his contact point, stop-over station and special instructions (such as "needs a wheel chair"), still must be recorded manually.
- Multiple handling of such data and transformation onto other records, is a slow, costly process and introduces the possibility of human error.
- Obtaining necessary financial and operational data from such manual records is a time-consuming and costly process.

However, electronic data processing equipment which will be available in the near future will perform many of these existing tasks automatically and will also provide services and information which is not now available to airline management and operations people, Charles G. Abbott told the Air Transport Association's Reservations Committee, during its recent meeting in New Orleans. Abbott is manager of Advanced Process Application for American Airlines.

In addition to the inherent advantage that "once information is correctly introduced into this system it cannot go wrong," Abbott said that electronic data processing could provide the airlines with the following:

- All name, continuing space and other identifying information would be stored automatically and be available to all users in a split second.
- Alphabetic filing of all passengers records, which has long been a dream of reservations people but impractical with present manual methods, will become a reality.
- Messages to outlying stations will be

All the World is OUR Airport

The remote corners of the world are now accessible to aircraft designed to include the Stroukoff Pantobase landing system. A product of Stroukoff research and development, Pantobase will permit landings and take-offs from snow, ice, water, sand and unimproved terrain as well as standard runways. The increased versatility of the aircraft will reduce the need for conventional airports and contribute materially to the advancement of logistical techniques. The safety of the Pantobase landing system, is assured by the extensive experience and complete reliability of the Stroukoff organization.

Pantobase — When designed into an aircraft the Stroukoff Pantobase system enables the plane to land and take off from many types of surface without changes or additional landing equipment.

BLC — Boundary layer control as developed by Stroukoff increases the effective lift and delays stalling of the wing, thereby reducing required speeds and distances for take-offs and landings.

duction in the United States at the present time.

While know-how and ideas from German and other sources have helped in this Soviet accomplishment, they would not have been absorbed and put to effective use so rapidly if native groups such as Loitsianski's had not mastered the fundamentals of the problem independently and prepared a sufficient number of engineers to extend and improve good borrowed ideas in an original and skillful manner.

In connection with such work it is essential to check experimentally the results predicted from various simplifying assumptions, since these are suggested by engineering intuition and must be discarded unless they give reliable estimates. And, indeed, some competent instrumentation has been developed and used in connection with Loitsianski's work, especially the later work on turbines.

Although the Soviets are generally close-mouthed about their aeronautical testing equipment, they have recently described some optical apparatus and some fast-acting pressure pickups which indicate an ability to perform accurate measurements under difficult physical conditions.

The inevitable reliance on experiment makes it difficult to organize engineering development task forces similar to the theoretical groups described previously. The Soviet development engineer is more closely linked with his equipment and his versatility, while surprisingly great in a few leaders like Loitsianski, cannot be compared with that of an applied mathematician. Nevertheless, the research personnel at Soviet polytechnic institutes who contribute to the study of basic engineering concepts underlying aircraft propulsion are doing their jobs with imagination, competence, and apparent success

Flow Techniques

An indication of the quality of the research done at the Zhukovski Academy is given by a recent booklet published by A. N. Zaks on flow visualization techniques (1950) which describes the quality and type of equipment available there for experiments in aerodynamics. Zaks, who graduated from the Academy in the late 1940's, discusses some of the wind tunnels and optical instruments available at the Academy and shows photographs of simple tests carried out there.

Facilities in which speeds up to twice the speed of sound are reached were evidently in operation in the late forties, and adequate instrumentation was also in use. The Zaks booklet and other stray references in the Soviet literature suggest that the experimental equipment available at the Academy is kept fully up-to-date and as good as

Swedlow HEAT-REFLECTIVE PLASTICS IN NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION'S F-100

North American Aviation has effectively resolved the increasingly critical heat transfer problem by installing Swedlow's recently developed heat-reflective plastic laminate in no less than sixteen vital components in the F-100 Super-Sabre jet.

This light-weight laminate (.0625" thick, weighing .530 pounds per square foot) shows a temperature drop from 1200°F on one face to 560°F on the other face after prolonged exposure.

Most important, it is light in weight and can be easily molded to any shape. If you have a heat transfer problem, investigate Swedlow heat-reflective laminate.

An exciting, authentic and educational game for young and old alike!

HOME COURT BASKETBALL

A brand-new pastime . . . a game that recreates all of the situations and thrills to be found in a real hardwood court contest . . . devised with the know-how of Charley Eckman, the famous professional coach.

Home Court Basketball is as close to America's fastest-growing sport as it is possible to get without donning a uniform and playing in an actual game on the hardwood court . . . in Home Court Basketball are the authentic situations, problems and percentages to be found in a real game. By itself it is an enjoyable pastime and it contains the added bonus of educating basketball spectators to a fuller enjoyment of games played on the hardwood court. Home Court Basketball is not a mechanical or electrical device, but a game requiring thought and skill. A deck of 80 cards, each one different, governs the play.

If there is a situation, predicament or problem in the game of basketball that has not been experienced by Charley Eckman, it would be difficult to name . . . and now all of his know-how of the game has been done up in an attractive package called Home Court Basketball.

A former top referee in the National Basketball Association, Charley Eckman has been coach of the professional Zollner Pistons basketball team for two years. During that time he has achieved a fame that brought him wide recognition and featured places on the pages of The Saturday Evening Post, Time, Sports Illustrated and other leading publications.

WHAT'S

SO NEW ABOUT SATURN GYRO-TOPS?

Not the planet, that is, but SATURN GYROscopeTOPS that have cut quite a swath in the scientific toy field lately. The news is, that SATURN's had "satellites," so to speak. Two brand spanking new gyros called MERCURY and JUPITER are busting out all over the universe, and if our guess is right, they're going to give old SATURN quite a run for the star spot. MERC and JUP have really got it! All steel construction, solidly welded, and with all steel rotors, too. MERCURY will be a sensation at 98c 'cause it's coated with colorful Vinyl, and the rotor is mounted on precision ball bearings. JUPITER's a real buy, too. The finest quality 59c toy gyroscope to ever grace a counter.

SATURN's a bit green eyed about the new "starlets", but old SAT is still the apple of our eye. SATURN GYROscopeTOPS are made of DOW STYRON 475 with impact resistance five times as great as any other plastic, and flashing star-studded rotors are filled with special round grain 'fluid' sand that makes them balance and spin perfectly — on ball bearings! Absolutely can't be beat at $1.49.

For the real news, did you know that Paul Henry is the only company making a complete line of toy gyroscopes? Let our rep tell you more about the all new MERCURY and JUPITER — he'll be happy for the chance.

SO NEW ABOUT NEWELL?

Typical reaction of a toy buyer, we'd say — what's so newsy about a line of air pressure ball guns that were pretty good sellers back a year or two ago? As things go in the toy business, they should be gone and forgotten (hot items have a way of getting cold, you know). BUT HOLD ON! Here's what's new about Newell Airfire Ball Guns — they didn't fade away like usually — their sales are going strong and GETTING STRONGER EVERY DAY! Would "other" ball guns be hitting the market now if it weren't for NEWELL's proven and continuing success?

We know why NEWELL's sales are up — it's a fine product, made of superior materials such as acetate and aluminum, and built right to give long life and excellent service. Newell's high standards of quality are now being perpetuated by Paul Henry's gyro specialists who know and understand what it means to build and sell toy items that stay in the books, year after year.

Some "odd ball" guns now on the market cause us to be deadly serious for a moment: BE SURE of ball gun standards. ALL NEWELL guns fire standard full-sized table tennis balls — they can't hurt even the smallest tyke. NEWELL AIRFIRE BALL GUNS are approved as completely safe by leading law enforcement authorities.

That's the news about NEWELL — let a PAUL HENRY rep tell you how riding with the winner will boost your profits.

Navy's first primary jet trainer by Temco

Ready today for training tomorrow's jet pilots

Now it's jet training from the ground up!

Temco's two-place jet trainer — the Navy's TT-1 — opens up an entirely new concept in military flight training. Now, student pilots can actually begin their training in a jet aircraft.

Temco developed its fighter-type trainer to give fledgling pilots jet wings at the very start . . . to shorten the number of hours required for military flight training programs. Outstanding safety features, ease of handling, plus the flight characteristics of true jet performance make the TT-1 today's most efficient answer to the needs of military training commands.

The TT-1 will be a "new" aircraft tomorrow and for years to come, thanks to its carefully engineered growth factor. Temco designed its rugged trainer to permit important up-to-the-minute changes with only minor modification.

Proving its worth in competitive flight evaluation tests at the Patuxent River Air Test Center, Temco's jet trainer won its Navy wings in June to bring closer the day when a cadet flyer's first solo will be jet-powered.

New simplified approach to temperature control has superior reliability

Edison Reverses Trend Toward Complexity In Aircraft Accessory Systems

Proved in service on the Douglas C-124 Globemaster, the Convair delta wing F-102, the Boeing B-50 and many other operational aircraft, the Edison simplified temperature control now reverses the trend toward complexity in aircraft accessory systems.

Compact and lightweight, this highly reliable temperature control uses only standard electro-mechanical components—no electronic equipment. Its design simplicity eliminates costly maintenance training. The instrument's checkout procedure is familiar to any electrician.

This basic control teams up with the rugged Edison Fire Detector Cable or with any of Edison's accurate Resistance Temperature Detectors to warn of fire in engines and baggage areas or to signal dangerous temperatures in bearings, heating ducts or oil lines. Simultaneous or selective temperature indication is optional on all overheat detecting systems using RTD's.

Edison field engineers with years of aircraft experience are located in Ft. Worth, Dayton, Glendale, Chicago and West Orange. They will gladly analyze your temperature control problems and recommend action. Just write any of these offices and let us know your requirements.

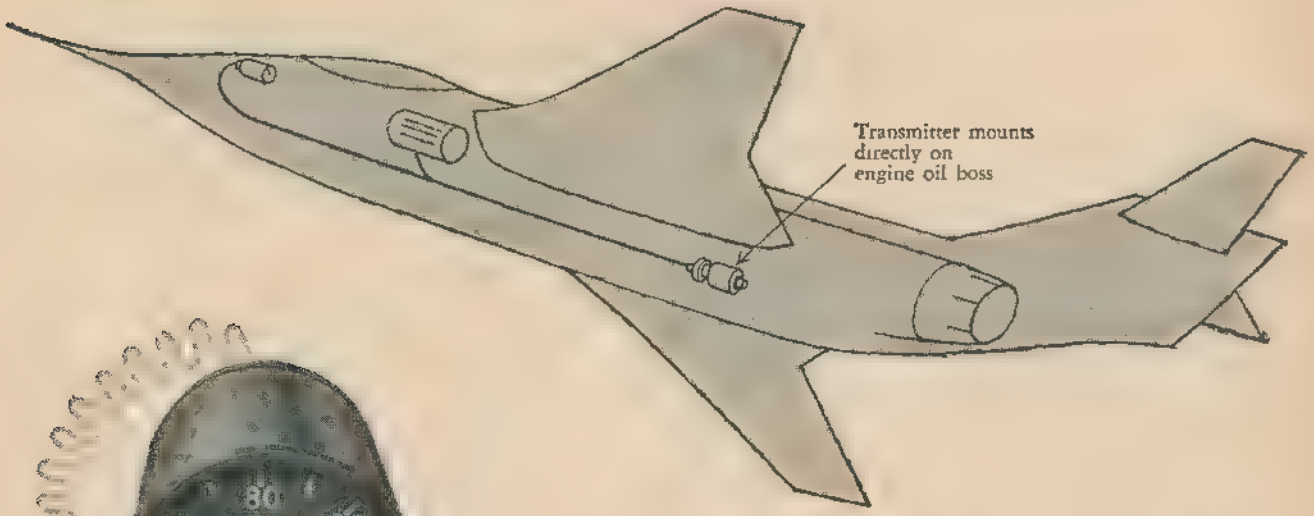
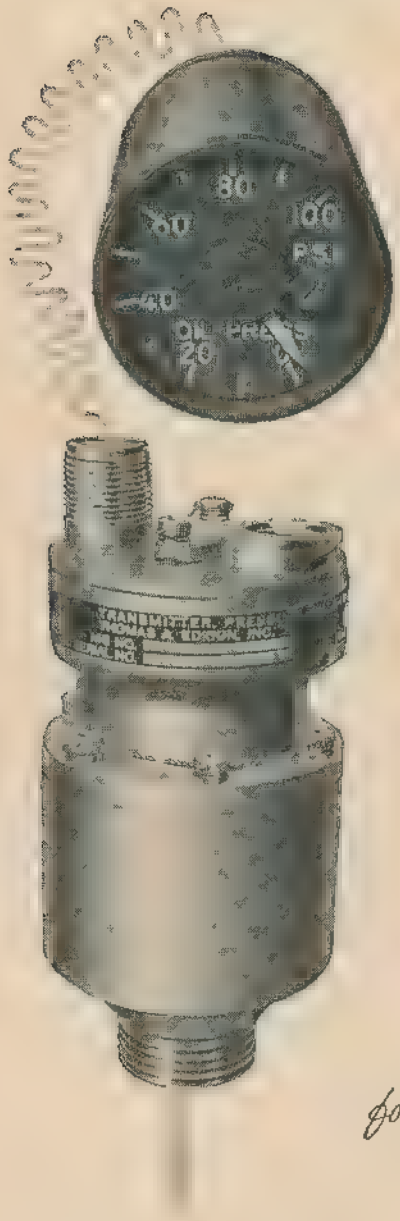
Announcing an important Edison development





new Pressure Indicating System eliminates shock mounting

Latest development to stem from the famous Edison Research Laboratories is this rugged Remote Pressure Indicating System. Specified on the Lockheed F-104, the system now makes it possible to mount the transmitter directly on the engine without shock or vibration isolators. For either jet or reciprocal engines, it provides accurate, continuous indication of oil pressure—unaffected by cold, heat, vibration or lead wire distance.

The transmitter is accurate through a vibration range up to 500 cps, temperatures up to 232°C and shock to 20 g. Oil hose or tubing is eliminated, thus removing a major cause of malfunction and delayed readings due to cold, sluggish oil. The transmitter has only one moving part and is frictionless.

The entire Edison Pressure Indicating System weighs only 2.5 pounds (plus wiring) and consumes a low 1.5 watts power. Because of its simplified electro-mechanical design, installation and maintenance problems have been minimized.

for complete details on the Edison Pressure Indicating System, write for Publication 3041.

HOW FRUEHAUF TRAILER COMPANY, Detroit, Michigan, mounts Timken bearings on a typical trailer wheel hub to take heavy loads, reduce friction, assure dependable performance.

35,000-pound airport rolls on TIMKEN® bearings

TO make possible launching jet fighters and missiles without runways, Fruehauf built the new "Zero-Length" semitrailer for Martin, Baltimore. And to be sure the wheels and axles could take the 35,000-lb. trailer load plus the weight of the plane or missile, Fruehauf engineers specified Timken® tapered roller bearings for the wheel mountings.

Timken bearings take both radial and thrust loads in any combination. Their tapered construction does it. And full line contact between their rollers and races gives Timken bearings extra load-carrying capacity. The trailer wheels roll easily on Timken bearings. Need no special devices to take the heavy thrust loads of turning.

Wear and maintenance are cut, longer bearing life assured because Timken bearings practically eliminate friction. They're geometrically designed to have true rolling motion and manufactured with microscopic accuracy to conform to their design. Closures are more effective because Timken bearings hold wheels, hubs and axles concentric. Dirt can't get in, lubricant can't get out. And Timken bearings shrug off the shock encountered pulling the trailer over rugged terrain because their rollers and races are case-carburized to give them a hard, wear-resistant surface over a tough, shock-resistant core. The fine alloy steel used in Timken bearings is made in our own mill. We're America's only bearing manufacturer that takes this extra step to insure bearing quality.

No other bearing gives you all the advantages that Timken bearings give you. Specify them for the machines you design, buy or build. Always look for the No. 1 sign of value on every bearing—the trademark "Timken". The Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton 6, Ohio. Canadian plant: St. Thomas, Ontario. Cable address: "TIMROSCO".

This symbol on a product means its bearings are the best.

WE MAKE OUR OWN STEEL

The special grade alloy steel which gives Timken bearings their strength and resistance to wear is made in our own steel mills.

Only Timken tapered roller bearings have these advantages. 1. advanced design; 2. precision manufacture; 3. rigid quality control; 4. Timken fine alloy steels.

the new TURBO-PROP VICKERS VANGUARD

THREE TIMES NORMAL FREIGHT CAPACITY! The double deck design of the new Vickers Vanguard is the answer to the problem of how to carry a high payload even during night or off-peak periods without modifying the aircraft in any way. Two extensive lower deck cargo holds provide three times the freight capacity of its closest rival. With a working height of over four feet in the holds, and doors over five feet wide, not only is freight handling faster and easier, but simultaneous loading and unloading is also possible. Such large cargo holds allow an economic freight payload with only 30% of passenger seats sold. Moreover, the lower deck can be filled with low density freight when carrying a full passenger load. In either case no modifications in layout are needed.

GREATER SPEED, GREATER RANGE! The turbo-prop Vickers Vanguard is designed to carry up to 115 passengers on medium and long ranges up to 2600 miles, cruising at speeds as high as 425 m.p.h.

VISCOUNT 810·840

designed for greater profits and economy

The Viscount 810 • 840 is designed to cruise up to 400 miles an hour at 20,000 feet. Carrying up to 70 passengers, it will be the ideal aircraft for medium haul, high-density routes. Higher speed and enlarged capacity are combined with greater engine economy and relatively low first cost to give the Viscount 810 • 840 its unique advantages. Powered by four new Rolls-Royce Dart R. Da. 7 or R. Da. 8 turbo-prop engines, the new Vickers Viscount 810 • 840 will be put into service by Continental Airlines in 1958. By then Vickers Viscount aircraft will have amassed more than a million hours of flying experience.

Behind the new Viscount 810 • 840 stands the great name of the Vickers Group—internationally famous as makers of aircraft, ships, industrial machinery and precision equipment.

F4D Skyray . . . Navy's Sunday Punch!

The Navy's F4D Skyray — newest all-weather fleet interceptor — gets its deadly sting from its Westinghouse Aero 13 armament control system.

Visibility good, or zero — when a Navy pilot is searching out enemy targets in a Douglas F4D, a blip on his Aero 13 radarscope shows him where the invading planes are. He selects the appropriate target and locks on, tracking. The Aero 13 computer calculates the proper attack course (at the pilot's option) until the target is in range. Directed by the Aero 13, the weapons are fired at the right instant — another intercept mission is accomplished!

The Aero 13 embodies advanced design for convenience of installation and maintenance, by cylindrical packaging, which is adaptable for the nose of any modern high-speed fighter aircraft. It consists of hinged panels which can be swung outward and downward for quick maintenance.

Each panel section in turn contains removable subassemblies. Complete circuits can be checked with test equipment similar to an ordinary tube tester. Built-in test points in the radar subassemblies provide quick localizing of trouble.

Latest in the Air Arm fire control series, the Aero 13 is a refinement of an earlier Westinghouse development that scored the first blind kill of an enemy aircraft over Korea. It is one more example of creative engineering by Westinghouse — airborne defense systems to keep America free.

For assistance in specific fields of airborne electronics defense systems, contact Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Air Arm Division, Friendship International Airport, Baltimore 27, Md.

J-91049

The Aero 13 incorporates the complete radar and computing system in a unique barrel-type package which fits perfectly in the nose of the aircraft. Overhead slide-rail mounting provides easy pull-out for service.

Boeing selects new Westinghouse electrical system for 707

AIRLINES ASSURED MOST ADVANCED PERFORMANCE BY NEW BRUSHLESS GENERATOR, NEW MAGAMP* REGULATOR, NEW STATIC CONTROL PANEL

Boeing engineers will achieve both system reliability and reduced maintenance for the new 707 Strato-Liner as a result of choosing integrated a-c systems developed by Westinghouse.

The rotating rectifier a-c generator eliminates commutators, brushes and collector rings. It does away with the troublesome maintenance problems that these components force on other systems. Excitation is self-contained in the generator—no vulnerable power cables between the generator and exciter. Static circuitry gives sealed-in accuracy, assures system reliability.

The systems are tailored to meet the requirements of the airlines using three or four generators rated 30 or 40 kva, and, of course, the systems have automatic protection.

Contact your Westinghouse sales engineer for complete information about this new integrated electrical system, or write: Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Aircraft Equipment Department, Lima, Ohio. J-03028
